Secretary of State Arrives For NATO Expansion Meet

Will Consider Russian Policy During Meeting

PARIS (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew into Paris today to try to breathe some new life into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

His special Air Force plane from Washington landed at Orly airfield nearly an hour ahead of schedule. Dulles was accompanied by his wife.

Although preparations had been made for him to make a statement on the French radio, he said he had none to make. Instead he drove off immediately for the U. S. Embassy with Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon.

Dulles came here for a weekend meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers which may expand the military alliance into political and economic fields. Possibly a new organization could emerge in time.

Dulles was pictured in Washington as coming to the meeting of the 15-nation NATO Council Friday without any specific blueprint. Officials there said he was anxious to hear the views of other governments.

But the secretary's remarks on leaving the U. S. capital and a White House statement made it clear development of a program of economic and possibly political action for the "North Atlantic community" would be given intensive study.

Other problems such as the Palestine and Cyprus crises and Russian policy were certain to draw Dulles' attention also, particularly at preliminary meetings with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

Dulles said in Washington one of the primary purposes of the NATO Council meeting was to consult on steps to organize the North Atlantic Community into "something more than a military alliance."

A White House statement said the secretary had conferred with President Eisenhower on "the political development of the Atlantic community."

The use of the term "North Atlantic community" in both statements was considered significant. That community includes such non-NATO members as Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

However, Dulles made it plain he still regards the military aspects of the NATO alliance as essential. He said NATO's strength and unity had contributed to a friendlier Soviet policy.

"If we want that happier condition to continue, we must continue the policies that brought it about," he declared.

"But the North Atlantic community is held together by sentiments far more profound than fear, and by objectives far more fundamental than military strength. I hope and expect that at this meeting we will begin to search out new ways to express our common desire."

Youths Caught With Stolen Automobile

Kansas City Boys Picked Up After Local Complaint

Quick work on the part of Sedalia police officers resulted in the apprehension of two youths from Kansas City, who had in their possession a stolen car belonging to the American Cab Co. of Kansas City. They had also driven away from the Jerry Brown Service Station on West Highway 50 without paying for $4.05 worth of gasoline.

The boys had stopped the car at the station, filled it up, then drove away. The station attendant notified the Sedalia police the car was headed toward Sedalia, described it erroneously as a black Packard sedan, but did give the correct license number.

A quick check was made through the police radio to Lee's Summit where they learned the car was a Plymouth and belonged to the Cab Co., Kansas City, and was stolen Officers Robert Carver and C. B. Nicewarner were in Car 11 at Broadway and Crescent Drive when the correct information was given.

No sooner had the dispatch been received than the car drove past and the officers took after it. They chased the car to 12th and Monroe, where the boys stopped and gave themselves up to the officers.

They were armed with two blank pistols, an old army trench knife and a kitchen paring knife, but they never reached for their pistols or knives and meekly gave themselves up. The guns appeared as if they were of a small caliber and it wasn't until they were checked at police headquarters that it was learned they were used to shoot blanks.

The boys identified themselves as Mike Sadewhite, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sadewhite, Kansas City. The other gave his name as Ronald Lee Rogers, 16, son of Harry L. Rogers, Kansas City.

At police headquarters Sadewhite told a story they had planned to hitchhike to Wichita, Kan., then changed their minds when they came upon the cab parked on the company lot at 11th and Troost with the keys in it. Getting the car, they decided to head for St. Louis.

"We planned to stop east of Sedalia on a side road and sleep," Sadewhite said. "We were going to take the two-way radios out and then go to St. Louis and sell the car. We then planned to get a plane to Dallas, Tex., get necessary papers to let us into Mexico. At Dallas we planned to buy a car and then head for Old Mexico and go to Acapulco, Mexico, where I have some friends."

Both boys said they are students at the De LaSalle Military Academy in Kansas City. Mike is a junior and Ronald a sophomore.

Detectives Bell and Hymer of the Kansas City Police Department called for the boys about 5:30 a. m. Wednesday morning and took the boys back to Kansas City. The Kansas City officers "reported neither boy was as old as he had reported, both being 15-years-old according to the officers."

Methodists Segregation Feud Flares

Move to Disavow Present Structure Brings Hot Session

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Methodists were caught today in a taut struggle over the issue of racial segregation in their 9½-million-member church.

It erupted yesterday in a tumultuous session at the church's law-making General Conference, and brought delegates into today's meeting in a mood of high tension.

There were reports from night committee sessions, however, that strides had been made toward agreement on specific action to disavow the church's segregated administrative structure.

It was an attempt to do this that had unleashed the wave of heated debate.

The conflict resurrected shadows of century-old lines that once divided the church, North and South.

It started after Atty. Charles Parlin of Englewood, N.J., introduced a resolution drafted by a committee he heads, and declaring the church's opposition to segregation practices.

The Rev. W. Sproule Boyd of Johnstown, Pa., criticized the resolution as a "repetition of pious phrases" often used before, and proposed an amendment.

It would declare that "so long as we have within our organizational structure a jurisdiction based on race rather than geography," the church has not lived up to its principles.

Emotions soared to a high pitch as delegates argued the issue.

The Rev. William S. Evans of Paducah, Ky., maintained that the conference shouldn't be denouncing as "a sin" a situation that some people don't consider in that category.

The debate rolled on, sometimes with fiery oratory, sometimes with tears.

Pleaded the Rev. Kelly L. Jackson, a Negro minister of Baltimore:

"I pray to God that this racial flag will be brought down, that we will march on as one army of the living God under the banner of Jesus Christ."

Continued Chilly Weather Is Outlook For Another 24 Hours

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — Continued chilly weather is the outlook for Missouri for at least another 24 hours.

A low of 40 degrees in the north-east to 50 in other areas are forecast for tonight.

The Weather Bureau predicts rising temperatures for Thursday, 60 to 65 degrees in the northwest to 70 in the southeast.

Chances of continued scattered showers or thunderstorms tonight and Thursday also are good.

Heaviest rainfall reported in the state yesterday and last night was 1.11 inches at New Madrid, Caruthersville, in the same south-east Missouri area, reported .34 inch. Among other reports were Rulo .80, Burlington Junction .86, and Lexington .03, St. Joseph .53, Joplin .17 and Butler .12.

A low of 40 degrees was reported at Kirksville last night. The high of 66 was at Rolla.

House Calls Farm Measure For Debate

Its Main Provision Is Eisenhower's Soil Bank Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House called up for debate today a new farm bill which its Democratic sponsors contend should satisfy President Eisenhower and not invite another veto.

Its main provision is Eisenhower's soil bank program—but without authority he asked to pay as much as 500 million dollars this year to farmers who agree to withdraw surplus-producing acres from cash crops in 1957.

Republican efforts to add advance payment authority shaped up as the issue likely to touch off a new partisan floor fight.

Chairman Coley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee called the soil bank advance payment idea "a bad thing." He said "the Republicans are going to be accused of buying the farm vote in November" if they insist on it.

Republican leaders, however, were planning to offer a simple soil bank measure with advance payment authority as a substitute for the Democratic-backed bill.

This would eliminate price-support-lifting provisions in the Democratic bill which are popular with many farm belt members of both parties. Thus the outcome of such a move was in doubt.

Variety Delights Audience— Sedalia Men's Choral Club Gives Tenth Spring Concert

The Sedalia Men's Choral Club pleased a large audience with its tenth annual Spring Concert on Tuesday night in Smith-Cotton Auditorium. Wearing new uniforms of white serge with red carnation boutonnieres, the members were seated in a new staging arrangement which resulted in better hearing for the audience.

Abe Rosenthal, director, arranged a program which varied in interest from song to song, and which was technically one of the club's most skilled concerts, especially noticeable in the ballade "I Believe" and the Katcher arrangement of "When Day Is Done."

Soloists in various numbers gave good account of themselves, and during the first half of the program Al Domingue and John Vandekamp delighted the audience with excellent duet teamwork on "Autumn Leaves," "Hot Diggity" and "That's Amore."

During the final traditional rendering of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" the men were joined on the stage by former members of the club from the audience, including the Rev. H. U. Campbell, now of Lexington.

The program was presented in observance of National Music Week. Miss Lillian Fox, regular accompanist, was at the piano and was given a special round of applause at the close.

A surprise for the audience was the introduction, during the second half of the program, of Danny Podgarnik, a newcomer to Sedalia and a native of Italy, who presented three accordion numbers with much skill and showmanship.

The club members, their wives, families and guests, enjoyed a supper in the Little Theatre following the concert.

The Capital Is Honored In Contest

Is Only Missouri Paper To Reach Judging Of Finals

The Sedalia Capital received an outstanding honor the past week upon being picked for the finals in judging of newspapers with less than 10,000 circulation in the nationwide 26th Annual Newspaper Contest, sponsored by N. W. Ayer & Son.

The Capital was one of 15 newspapers of its class chosen from a total of 305 entries from across the nation. It was the only Missouri newspaper to reach the finals in any of the three classes.

The Ayer contest is the largest newspaper contest in the country, with entries all vying for the coveted Ayer Cup, which this year went to the Rutland, Vt., Herald, in the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation class. This was the largest class, with 328 entries. There were 141 entries in the big city papers of more than 50,000 circulation, or a total of 804 in all.

The judges were Dr. Gaylord C. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania; Raymond Blattenberger, Public Printer of the United States; and Bradbury Thompson, art director of Mademoiselle magazine and other publications.

In making their selections, the judges gave high marks for ease of reading, the treatment of pages as a unit with a major center of interest, careful placing and good reproduction of pictures, the consistent use of a single type family, and balance and harmony among elements on a page.

In addition to the Ayer Cup winner, there were three newspapers in each of the three classes which received first, second and third honorable mention. Those receiving first mention in The Capital's class were: first, the Ironwood, Mich.; Daily Globe; second, the Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Journal; and third, the Sumter, S.C.; Daily Item.

H. A. Bratten, chairman of the board of N. W. Ayer and Son, who has seen all 26 contests, said, "Once again, newspapers have improved their appearance as part of their efforts to keep on giving better and better service to the public. No one can watch these contests from year to year without realizing how dynamic the newspaper business is, changing and improving to meet the needs of our country."

The contest is open to all Sedalians and the fact is stressed that although there must be certain rules to guide, they are not hard and fast rules. Everyone strives for perfection, of course, but nobody expects to attain it. The contest is an informal one and is for the average home. The lawn may not be just as you would like it, and other parts of the yard and even the house may not be exactly the way you want it, but do not let that keep you from entering. Work out the plan to suit your own fancy, Mrs. Seifert says. The most beautiful homes and gardens are created around the ideas and personal touches of the people who live there and not by a pattern set by their neighbors, their friends or anyone else's suggestions. If you think your home and garden is pretty and attractive, don't hesitate to enter the contest. Other people will like it, too, and this contest is an opportunity to do something for the community into which you live, she said.

Every yard cannot be a winner, but every yard entered has a chance, and even if the beautiful plaque designating the yard of the month does not happen to get in your yard, Mrs. Seifert said, you will still be a winner because you will have an attractive yard which will bring admiration from those passing by.

Entries may be sent to the Chamber of Commerce Office, 113½ East Fourth.

Psychiatrist Will Be Speaker at Public Meeting Thursday

Dr. G. Wilse Robinson, Jr., prominent psychiatrist, Kansas City, will be the speaker at a public meeting in Smith-Cotton High School at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

This program is a principal part of observance of "Mental Health Week" in Sedalia and Pettis County, sponsored by the Pettis County Medical Auxiliary in cooperation with the National Association for Mental Health.

Dr. Robinson will discuss ways and means to help the mentally ill and the problem it poses for citizens nationally and locally.

Every yard cannot be a winner, but every yard entered has a chance, and even if the beautiful plaque designating the yard of the month does not happen to get in your yard, Mrs. Seifert said, you will still be a winner because you will have an attractive yard which will bring admiration from those passing by.

Entries may be sent to the Chamber of Commerce Office, 113½ East Fourth.

Siamese Twin Pigs Leave Farmer Puzzled

PLATTEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Ellis Hampson is wondering what to do with 3-day-old Siamese twin pigs, borne by a crossbred sow along with 15 normal brothers and sisters.

"I hate to think of killing them," he said. "They seem to be as healthy and lively as any pigs we have, but they are joined at the chest and can't walk."

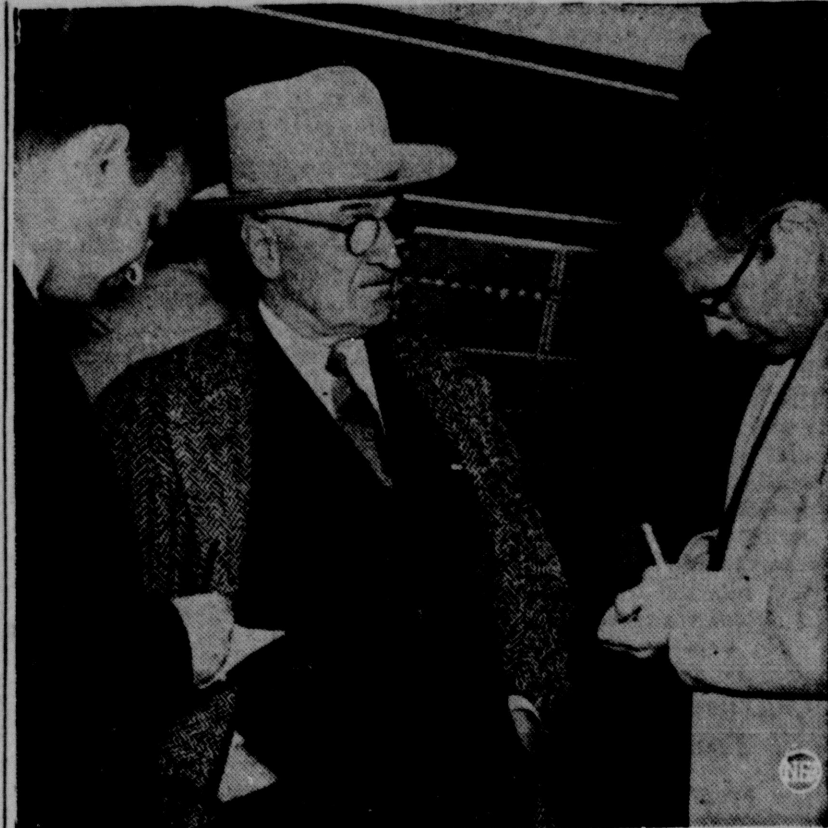

"My wife Marjorie and I have been feeding them milk from a bottle every half hour, but we can't keep that up for long. "It beats me. What would you do with them if they were yours?"

Marine Drowning Result

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top combat commander and Medal of Honor winner, Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup, today was handed the job of supervising Marine Corps recruit training. TRIBUTE TO BARKLEY—Former President Harry S. Truman, center, is shown as he is escorted upon his arrival in Kansas City by air from Huron, S. D., that he would like to attend both the Washington, D. C., and Paducah, Ky., funeral services for former Vice President Alben W. Barkley but isn't sure yet whether he can. Truman and his wife are scheduled to leave Kansas City May 8 for a trip to Europe. Scores of Plain People Attend— High, Mighty of Washington Pay Barkley Final Tribute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high and mighty of official Washington, led by President Eisenhower, and scores of plain people paid a final tribute today to Alben W. Barkley.

The President, diplomats, senators, cabinet members, and Supreme Court justices filled the pews in Foundry Methodist Church at funeral services for the late Kentucky Democratic senator and former vice president.

And outside the gray stone church, in a drizzle of rain, other Americans who had held the storied "Veep" of the Truman administration in deep affection stood silent.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, pastor of the church, chaplain of the Senate, and longtime friend of Barkley.

In an overnight change of plans, Eisenhower postponed his weekly news conference until Friday in order to attend the funeral.

It had been announced yesterday that Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to the United Nations, would represent the President at the service.

Eisenhower entered the church just before the service began. He was accompanied by his chief aide, Sherman Adams; his legislative assistant, Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

Barkley's body was to be removed later in the day, by a special congressional train, to his hometown of Paducah, Ky., for burial. The former vice president died Monday while making a political speech at Lexington, Va. He was 78.

Top officials of the Eisenhower administration mingled with Democrats of present and past eras at the church service.

Many important figures in the New Deal years sat side-by-side with today's Republican high command.

Besides the President, Vice President Nixon, Senate Republican leader Knowland of California, and Senate Democratic leader Johnson of Texas were among those attending.

From the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, among those who appeared were onetime new deal brain trusters Thomas G. ("Tommy the Cork") Corcoran and James P. McGranery, who was attorney general in the last months of the Truman administration.

Both candidates are vying for delegate votes in Oregon (16) and Florida (28).

Meanwhile, an associate of Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky said Chandler would not resign to take the U. S. Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Barkley Monday.

Makes Traffic Stop, Has to Yield $2,300

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — A man climbed into Eugene Dutz's station wagon when he made a traffic stop en route to a bank and robbed him of $2,300 yesterday.

Dutz, 45, who sells American Express money orders at his grocery in suburban Bel-Ridge told police the man kept one hand in his pocket, as if holding a gun, and forced him to drive around for several miles before he fled on foot with the money.

Osage Chapter, DAR, Hears Paper At April Meeting

Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Leroy H. Hodges, 1501 West Third, Saturday afternoon, April 28. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. George Bichsel, Mrs. Sid Condict, Mrs. J. P. Hurtt, Mrs. Clay Jones, Mrs. R. P. Rupard, Mrs. Jesse Saunders, Mrs. A. F. Scott and Mrs. Herbert Seifert.

The Regent, Mrs. Thomas W. Croxton, presided at the meeting. The meeting was opened by repeating the "Pledge of Allegiance" and the "American Creed" led by Miss Nina Harris, followed by a prayer by Mrs. W. P. Tucker, chaplain.

Mrs. R. P. Rupard reported she had sent a box of clothing to the School of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Henry Dickman, Springfield a guest of Mrs. Jesse Saunders, was introduced.

Mrs. L. H. Hodges, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Chester Wolfe, who gave a paper, "Seven Glorious Women of the Past," which had been prepared by Mrs. William A. Schien, who was unable to attend.

The first lady of the past that Mrs. Wolfe spoke of was Barbara Fritchie, immortalized in the poem by Whittier, "Barbara Fritchie." Next was Dolly Madison, who saved the picture of George Washington when the British invaded Washington in 1814. Abigail Adams, the first lady to live in the Executive Mansion, was mentioned next. Next was Martha Washington who was a lady in the finest sense. Betsy Ross, the flag maker, and Molly Pitcher, who was noted for her strength and the firing of the cannon ball after her husband was wounded, were also among the seven glorious women. The last lady of the past spoken of was Hannah Emerson Dustin, in whose honor the first monument commemorating the fame of a woman to be erected in the United States, was dedicated June 1, 1861 in Haverhill, Mass.

Reports of Continental Congress held in Washington, D. C., April 16-20 were given by Miss Lillian Thompson, Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, Miss Nina Harris, and Mrs. Thomas W. Croxton.

Miss Thompson said the most wonderful part of the trip, to her, was the visit to Valley Forge to see the beautiful "Memorial Bell Tower", to hear the bells peal out and to see the stained glass windows depicting the development of our country. She said it means so much more to walk where history took place rather than read it from a book and she wondered if we were living up to what is expected of us.

Mrs. Mitchell spoke of the bus trip with the sixty other Missouri DAR delegates and of the inspiration of being one of the 4,000 delegates attending Continental Congress.

Miss Nina Harris related the stops for lunch or night at Terre Haute, Ind.; Columbus, O.; the William Penn Hotel; the drive on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the Lee House in Washington, D. C. Miss Harris pictured the Missouri Tea, which was held in the Chinese Room of the Mayflower Hotel, honoring Mrs. Frederic A. Groves, Cape Girardeau, a candidate for President General.

Mrs. Croxton said the opening ceremony was most inspiring and it made one realize the privilege and honor of being a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution Society. The son of Tyler page gave the "American Creed" which was written by Tyler Page. Mrs. Croxton told of attending the Junior American Citizen's Breakfast, won by Missouri. Both were pupils of Oak Grove School, Mrs. W. P. Tucker, teacher. Mrs. Croxton was happy to announce, Mrs. Frederick Groves was elected President General DAR, the first Missouri Daughter to be elected to this office.

Mrs. Hodges announced the May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. J. Campbell, 319 East Broadway. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. A. L. Walter, Mrs. T. W. Cloney, Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, Miss Kathryn Courtney, Mrs. W. E. Terrell, Mrs. Ira Leiter, Mrs. Harry Brounger and Mrs. G. C. Salley.

The program will be "Protecting Our Future" by Mrs. Clarence Kemper, state chairman, press relations, Clinton. The Regent closed the meeting.

Members and guests were served refreshments in the candle lighted dining room where Mrs. E. F. Yancy and Mrs. Thomas W. Croxton presided at the tea table.

Cuba's Congress Okays Suspension of Liberty After Sunday's Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Both houses of Cuba's Congress put their stamp of approval last night on the suspension of civil liberties ordered by the government after Sunday's unsuccessful revolt.

The measure, which bars public meetings and puts Cuba's press and radio under censorship for 45 days, was approved by the Senate 34-10. In the 172-member House the vote was 109-10.

The country was reported calm today.

Urging approval of the already-instituted suspension decree, Prime Minister Jorge Garcia Montes told the lawmakers the action was necessary because "blood was shed and the public order was upset" in the brief rebellion.

The government announced previously that 15 rebels were killed and four soldiers wounded in the fighting at Matanzas, 60 miles east of Havana.

Garcia Montes charged the uprising was "inspired" by former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

It once was the custom of the king of Siam to send a white elephant to a courtier whose fortune he wished to destroy, hence "white elephant" for something one has and does not know what to do with.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
It's a far cry from the days of the Mother Hubbard maternity dress to the gay and youthful fashions designed for the modern lady-in-waiting.

Much of the credit for the new look in maternity fashions must go to the three Frankfurt sisters of Dallas, who started a little over a decade ago turning out clothes designed to make expectant mothers look and feel young and pretty.

Elsie Frankfurt is the only unmarried sister. She conceived the idea of improved costumes when she observed the troubles her married sisters had in finding the kind of clothes they wanted for the period before their babies were born. "Mothers are getting younger and younger these days," says Elsie, "so there's no reason why they should either look or act like old ladies just because they are expecting the stork."

The Frankfurt sisters design everything from swim suits to dance dresses for the stork club set, on the theory that it is good for mothers-to-be to continue their normal activities and have fun before the baby comes. Among the most popular items in their current collection are sports outfits consisting of loose overblouse top and contrasting pants in all lengths, from short shorts to ankle-length slacks.

Many of the outfits have matching skirts, also adjustable, so that a three-piece ensemble becomes practically a wardrobe.

"With several different over-blouses, and shorts and skirts in matching or coordinated colors, a young woman can be fashionably dressed for practically any occasion before the baby comes."

Grand Jury Claims Jefferson Barracks Should Be Developed

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—A St. Louis County grand jury says the county should expand and develop Jefferson Barracks because it offers a "great opportunity" for "a unique center of memorials illustrating all aspects of the western frontier."

In their report to Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein last night the jurors said the 134-acre historic monument area should be joined with the 61-acre Sylvan Springs Park.

This would be done by acquiring the intervening land which is held by the general services administration. This area should be made into "a real recreation center," the jury said.

In its final report covering a wide range of county activities the jury also recommended to the county council that it consider building a second jail in an outlying area at which a work program for prisoners could be started.

It also urged centralization of police activity for all communities and suggested a new building to house county offices now in rented quarters.

Kansas City Passes $27 Million Bond Issue by 4-1 Margin

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Kansas City's 27 million dollar bond issue for public school and library buildings passed by a 4-1 margin yesterday in extremely light voting.

Unofficial but complete returns showed 19,620 voting for and 4,807 voting against the issue out of an eligible electorate of 180,000. A late afternoon drizzle contributed to keeping the vote down.

Twenty one million dollars of the issue will be used for school purposes, primarily to build new schools and add to and repair existing facilities. The remaining six million dollars will be used for building a new main library, two new branches and for improving existing branches.

In nearby Platte County a $225,000 bond proposal by the West Platte R-2 school district failed to pass. The vote was 579-331 in favor of the issue, but a two-thirds majority was needed.

The school board met after the polls closed and decided to hold another special election May 19. Money from the bonds was to have been used for an addition to the Weston High School and for improvements to the auditorium-gymnasium.

Flying Farmer Trails Plane in Trouble, But No One Is Hurt

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo., (AP)—Two men, whose disabled plane from Malden Air Force Base was trailed 2 1/2 miles by a farmer in another plane when he noticed they were in trouble, escaped injury in a forced landing yesterday.

First Lt. Robert M. Nelson, 26, Hoopeston, Ill., and Robert Shaffer, a civilian flight instructor from Malden, climbed unhurt from their T-28 trainer after it skidded to a safe belly landing in a freshly-plowed cotton field east of here.

Charles Penman, who maintains a landing strip on his farm near here, noticed the trainer trailing smoke, as if from a broken oil line, as it came in over the Mississippi River.

Penman, a licensed pilot, climbed into his own plane and gave chase, then circled over the trainer after it landed until he saw the two occupants climb out. Penman is the son of State Rep. T. A. Penman, a New Madrid County Democrat.

Circuit Court Case Features Small Flareup

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Prosecutor Richard K. Phelps touched off a little fire in circuit court yesterday by way of proving a point.

Paul L. Varsalona, 36, and Sam Joseph Legrette, 39, are on trial. Varsalona owned and Legrette managed a super-market which burned last December 29. They are charged with arson.

Herman B. Davis, police laboratory technician, was on the stand. He testified he scraped up some black viscous material found spread on wrapping paper along the aisles of the store. He said his analysis showed it was roughly equivalent to gasoline.

A vial of the material was introduced in evidence.

Phelps poured some of it into a saucer held by Davis. The prosecutor held a match about an inch above the liquid. It flared into flames several inches high and gave off a lot of black smoke. "You better put that out before it burns your hand," said Judge Joe W. McQueen.

Davis spilled some of the flaming liquid on his hand as he put out the fire. He wasn't burned, however.

Phelps said the State probably would wind up its case against Varsalona and Legrette today.

Adlai says Ike Conducts Big Giveaway

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, winding up three days of campaigning in Oregon, concentrated on charges the Eisenhower administration has given away the nation's natural resources.

In a speech to about 650 here last night he said the Eisenhower administration has given away: Offshore oil lands "to fulfill Republican campaign promises."

Timber in Oregon's Rogue River National Forest "on the pretext the Al Sarena Co. was to mine for gold and silver."

Mining rights in wildlife refuges "to about as many companies in three years as in the past 33 years."

One of the greatest waterpower sites in the country—Hells Canyon.

Stevenson will interrupt his campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination tonight to fly to Paducah, Ky., for the funeral services for Sen. Alben Barkley, a distant kinsman.

He plans to fly to California tomorrow in his quest for votes in that state's presidential preference primary in June.

Before he left here he promised he would return three days before the Oregon primary May 13. He is engaged with Sen. Estes Kefauver in a write-in contest for Oregon's 16 convention votes.

Stevenson spoke to the 650 in the same hall where Douglas McKay, former Oregon governor and secretary of interior, addressed about 200 Monday night. He commented:

"The improvement reflects the

fact McKay was attacking Wayne Morse and I am supporting him."

McKay is running for the U.S. Senate, hoping to unseat Morse, switched to the Democratic party after supporting Stevenson against Eisenhower in 1952.

Stevenson called Morse "one of our greatest resources" and urged that Oregon voters "not let the Republicans give him away."

Stevenson said moving events force changes and the United States must have a firm, consistent policy in foreign affairs. The audience applauded when he said:

"The trouble with so many generals is they fight the next war with the last war's weapons."

More Wet Weather Seen As Rain Belt Spreads Eastward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More wet weather was in prospect for broad areas of the eastern half of the nation today.

Thunderstorms rumbled across eastern Texas and the lower Mississippi Valley and a belt of rain spread eastward. Showers were forecast for Midwest areas and in the Mid-Atlantic states.

Heavy rainfall was reported in eastern Texas. However, amounts were not as great as recorded in the West and central regions which were hit by two days of rain, causing flash floods in some areas. Nearly a foot of rain was reported in some sections in two days.

A 12-year-old boy drowned yesterday when floodwaters swept a school bus off a bridge near Lometa, in central Texas. Six other pupils were rescued.

Snow fell in western Montana and headed into the Dakotas and northern Minnesota.

Cool weather continued in most Northern areas, but it was generally mild in most of the South.

Largest known meteorite ever to have fallen on the earth is the Hoba West meteorite, which lies where it fell in the Grootfontein district of South West Africa.

Largest meteorite observed as it fell to the earth is the Furnas county, Nebraska, meteorite. It weighs at least a ton and fell on February 18, 1948.

AF Chaplain Is Speaker Before ABWA

"How Big Is Your Life?" was the subject chosen by Chaplain Kar F. Schofer, Whiteman Air Force Base for his address Tuesday night at the dinner meeting of the American Business Women's Association at Bothwell Hotel. It was Bosses Night and honored guests of the evening were the wives of the members and the wives of the bosses.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Margaret Bohon, president, who welcomed the guests, and the response for the bosses was made by Tom E. Keating. Each member then introduced her guests.

Invocation was given by Miss Ella Peithman, and dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Frances Jean Sparks. Mrs. Lottie Burford later introduced her daughter, Mrs. Sparks, who presented a group of her pupils from the Hughesville High School. The one boy in the group, Larry Callis, played a trombone solo, and then with the three girls, Kathy DeBord, Joy Phillips and Arline Tegtmeyer, sang several songs. The group had excellent voices and the girls were in colorful formal.

Chaplain Schofer was introduced by Mrs. Roxie Weikel. He asked the question, "How Big Is Your Life?" It should be, he stressed, limited to time, the things that are accomplished in a limit of time, and there should be plans for the future, not just for living today.

Understanding and seeing other countries doesn't make us love our country less, he pointed out — we love it more. What may be done with a life was demonstrated, he said, by a girl who was an invalid and who became interested in the insects in the grass in her backyard. She finally became one of the recognized authorities in that field. We have to have wide interests, he said, whether it is through travel, reading or adventure in our own backyards.

When a person marries, Chaplain Schofer told the group, his life doubles and increases with every child the interest of each member of the family.

In business, too, he said, it is necessary for employer and employee to be on the same basis, not just the idea of getting a salary but an interest in the working for the employer, and for the employer it must not be just some one serving him but working with him.

HIS DAILY BREAD—That's no special loaf of bread that six-year-old Arturo Fernandez is struggling with. It's an average-sized loaf that folks down in Buenos Aires, Argentina, use. Arturo is as familiar with king-sized loaves as Americans are with king-sized cigars. Argentines claim theirs to be the largest daily loaf of bread in the world.

The employee should stop and think how far his employer's product goes and how big the job is. In the nation, he said, today it cannot be just America, because now it is one world and we have been forced into a leadership we are not quite ready for. It is a small world now said Chaplain Schofer, and demands big people. We have to be informed, have to be just as big as this world is today. What women have always done, he explained, is what must be done today, the interest that they have in their home and their neighbors. Today it must be personal interest. We must learn to get along with the other people of the world and it is difficult if we can't get along with ourselves.

Lives, he said, are as big as our highest qualities. We are just as big as we do the job of living well. The benediction was given by Mrs. J. H. Rabourn. The speaker's table was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers in yellow and white with lighted yellow tapers at intervals down the table. Each of the other tables had in the center a large ABWA emblem on the back of which was a picture of the white carnation, the club flower. These were made by Miss Gwendolyn Tuck. Each woman guest was given a white carnation corsage tied with the ABWA colors, yellow and black. The bosses were each given a citation certificate.

The Chinese had a mechanical earthquake detector as early as 130 A.D. It consisted of a copper bowl, around whose rim were set eight dragon heads, each holding a small, delicately balanced copper ball in the tip of its tongue. When jarred, however slightly, the balls would drop out.

Top Pentagon Chiefs Back Marine Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Pentagon officials say they believe the Marine Corps has taken the necessary steps to prevent any more incidents like the drowning of six recruits on a night disciplinary march at Parris Island, S.C.

Secretary of Defense Wilson told his news conference yesterday he thinks "the best possible solution was worked out and I hope it will be accepted by everybody."

Secretary of the Navy Thomas put out a statement saying he was confident orders issued by Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Marine commandant, "will prevent the recurrence of a tragic incident of this kind."

Earlier in the day, Pate reported to the House Armed Services Committee that, in the wake of a Corps inquiry into the drownings last month, he had reorganized the training command, ordered closer supervision of non-commissioned drill instructors, and shifted Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, commander at the Parris Island boot camp, to Camp Lejeune, N.C., where there is no recruit training.

The Marines have recommended the court-martial trial of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon of Worcester, Mass., on four charges, including manslaughter. McKeon, a World War II and Korean War veteran, ordered the night march that ended in disaster, the inquiry court found he was under the influence of vodka at the time of the unauthorized march.

Navy Inquiry Brings Tongue Twister Query

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Did turbulence eliminate the turbulence eliminator?

This will be one question in a Navy inquiry into Lt. Bernard Tesch's mishap yesterday with a new delta wing Douglas F4D jet fighter.

Thomas said formal charges were being prepared in his office, preparatory to bringing McKeon to trial. Maximum penalty on the manslaughter charge, the most serious of the four, is 10 years in prison.

Scientists Say Earth Is Smaller Than Believed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army map service scientists said today new studies indicate the earth's circumference is about half a mile smaller than previously believed.

Bernard Chovitz, one of them, said the new findings would help in tracking the "baby moon" satellites the United States plans to begin launching into space sometime next year.

He also said a current project aimed at making the first accurate measurement of the distance between Western and Eastern Hemisphere lands, across the Atlantic, conceivably could yield information that would aid in accurately firing an intercontinental missile.

In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Geographical Union, the map service scientists said the equatorial radius of the earth — the distance from its center to the equator — is 6,975,336 yards or 140 yards less than the figure generally accepted since 1908.

Chovitz, a map service mathematician, told a newsmen the new computation, applied to the circumference of the earth at the equator, would make the world 24,902 miles around at its widest point. This is about half a mile smaller than the old circumference measurement.

Chovitz said the new estimate is based on continuous measurements of arcs—many thousands of miles long—ranging from Alaska to Chile in the Western Hemisphere, and from Finland to South Africa in the Eastern Hemisphere. Each arc is as long as one third of the earth's circumference.

Clean-up Season Is Upon Us

Time is fast running out on those who are determined to beat the gun on Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week which begins in Sedalia next Monday, May 7.

Even though many eager housekeepers have accomplished much already there is a great deal yet to do to put Sedalia in the "clean" category. Inclement weather has retarded work on exteriors so that one week of enthusiastic endeavor is needed to catch up.

The one week flurry over a city-wide cleanup will tax the capacity of property owners and the city itself to get the job done. So the work will go on well past next week, and into the summer.

Personnel of the street and alley and sanitation departments of the City of Sedalia will lend valuable assistance to the citizens hauling away accumulated debris collected on premises during the winter months. Before the pickup residents should check for potential fire hazards. Combustible rubbish is an increasingly frequent cause of fires, small ones to be sure, but these often can become big ones also.

The city, too, has a big job of keeping the town tidy. Erosion of terraces and parking which deposits great accumulations of dirt in streets along curb lines, goes on throughout the entire year. Sedalia streets are kept free of this accumulation, except Broadway, notably the eastern section from the M. K. & T. underpass to Engineer, and particularly along Washington Park area. Some of the dirt has actually concealed the curbing. This unsightly condition should receive attention of the State Highway department which is presumed to have Broadway under its wing for maintenance.

Drainage ditches in watershed areas in west Sedalia are beginning to fill up with sediment retarding the free flow of surface water during flash floods.

Correction of accumulated winter dirt is on the city agenda for clean-up season in order to ease the minds of residents who live in low areas subject to flooding during high water time.

Growth of the city and inadequate drainage indicates some thinking about relief from this annoyance as well as extension and enlargement of the sewer disposal outlets.

Something else that needs attention are the metal street signs on telephone poles and other standards. Many are askew, drooping in dejection from their own weight on loosened binders. Re-alignment to perk them up will correct an untidy appearance.

Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week offers a community wide challenge.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Nixon Smarter Than Democrats Think

WASHINGTON — The Democrats will make a big mistake if they underestimate Dick Nixon. They figure he has about 75 per cent chance of becoming President, and they're glad he is running. However, Dick doesn't miss a trick, and he knows most of the tricks in the political bag.

When he went in to see Eisenhower the other day to tell him he had "charted his course," he had already done some shrewd charting with most of the Republican state chairmen and committeemen around the country. He had telephoned them personally, asking them in his most deferential manner whether he should run again.

When the vice president of the United States calls to seek your personal advice, the natural tendency — unless icewater flows in your veins — is to tell him what he wants to know. Most Republican leaders did.

Nixon kept a score card of these calls, and the results were discreetly made known to the White House advisers in advance of Dick's conference with Ike last week.

That conference, previously unscheduled, was hastened by two developments:

1. Ike's statement in press conference that he had not yet received a reply from Nixon, which made it appear that Nixon was still out on a limb.

2. A Senate committee's sudden discovery that Nixon's attorney and most trusted adviser, Murray Chotiner, was involved in a blacklisted uniform manufacturer's effort to pull wires. What the Senate committee digs out might have influenced the GOP decision concerning Mr. Nixon's future, so Mr. Nixon rushed in to chart and clinch his future first.

Chotiner's Activities

Here is some interesting correspondence which the Senate committee, if it digs deeply enough, can bring out.

Th Secret Service, which has the job of protecting Nixon from bodily harm; and also has the job of protecting the great seal and currency of the USA, discovered that a company called the National Research Company was using a spread eagle insignia and various titles such as U. S. Credit Control Bureau, claims office, disbursement office, etc. The titles could give the impression it was a government agency in the collection of back debts.

In some cases forms that looked somewhat like government checks were mailed out when information was sought from people. The Secret Service investigated this, but finally passed the matter on to the Better Business Bureau with this letter by S. S. Chief U. E. Baughman, October 26, 1954:

"On several occasions, the United States Secret Service has received inquiries or complaints from citizens concerning a certain printed form and questionnaire purportedly issued by the Claims Office, 100 Barr Building, Washington, D. C., the upper portion of the form has a design of a spread eagle, is dated at Washington and is numbered, and has led some persons to believe that it is a government check.

"In fact, on June 25, 1954, a man was arrested by police in Phoenix, Arizona, for attempting to negotiate one of these forms which he represented to be a government check for disability payment. Another of the forms was negotiated last February in a Phoenix department store and was cleared through the banks to the treasurer of the United States for payment.

Passes the Buck

"... The claim form would not appear to violate any of the statutes enforced by this department. However, in view of the deceptive nature of the form, it is being called to your attention for whatever action you may deem appropriate. The special agent in charge of our field office in Los Angeles, California, has been requested to convey this same information to the Better Business Bureau in that city."

The Secret Service, it later developed, knew all about Mr. Chotiner, and senators are wondering whether this is why Baughman passed the case to the Better Business Bureau despite one arrest in the case.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Better Business Bureau was investigating the home office of National Research Company. Here is the confidential report of Research Director T. D. Hodge, dated September 27, 1954:

"Our information at this time is that all of the concerns are owned by one Mr. S. Florsheim and a Mr. Milton S. Mohr, both of Los Angeles. ... the other is Mr. Murray Chotiner, a Beverly Hills attorney, who has held out that his sole connection with any of the outfits is professional, notwithstanding some indications that his interest may be deeper than that."

By November, 1955, Better Business had discovered that Murray Chotiner was a man of influence and that at least part of the Secret Service was loath to investigate.

This report from William J. Mawhinney in its Washington office, was sent to the National Better Business Bureau, dated November 8, 1955:

"We have a letter from Murray M. Chotiner informing us that the office of employment reclassification is a trading organization and is owned by the National Research Company. In September of this year, we had information from San Francisco BBB that Murray Chotiner was campaign manager for Vice President Nixon in 1952 and has been named one of the professors for the GOP campaign school.

S. S. Agent Is Cool

"Upon receipt of this news," continued the Washington BBB report, "I contacted a Secret Service agent for the Nixons who did not appear to be interested in any information that I might have and said he was well acquainted and knew all about Mr. Chotiner. Since he did not care to review our six-inch file on this outfit, I made the remark that the Democratic Committee would be very much interested in it if they ever made inquiry to this office. The agent promised that he would be over this Tuesday, Sept. 13, but to date he has not appeared."

Finally Federal Trade Commission on Dec. 23, 1955, cracked down on Mr. Chotiner's client. It issued a cease and desist order, ordering it to quit using such terms as "claims office" or "United States Credit Control Bureau."

Chotiner, realizing the political consequences, rushed out with a statement that he had had "no contact with the vice president since the day he was elected, so far as any contact with his office is concerned."

The Natural Huff Never Was Permitted

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — One thing showed through the busy bustle of busing at the Moscow airport this week when everybody who is anybody in Russia kissed Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

The two Red leaders, returning from Britain like men who needed affection after the cool reception there, seem determined to improve relations with the West or give a good impression of trying.

They could have arrived home in a huff. It wouldn't have been surprising. The British Socialists had needed Khrushchev into blowing his top. And their talks with Prime Minister Eden were not, according to reports, overly successful.

Instead, as soon as they alighted from their plane they gave a friendly nod toward the British Isles and then turned their full gaze on the United States like two traveling salesmen getting ready for a new customer and hardly able to wait.

If the United States and the Soviet Union both show good will, Khrushchev said, they can make a lot of progress in developing trade and cultural relations and solving the disarmament problem. These two men, Bulganin and Khrushchev, with their trips to Yugoslavia, Asia and Britain, have gone to a lot of trouble to make Russia look like a friendly neighbor on the street of nations.

There is danger of underrating them. It is usual in this country to be suspicious and even scornful of the Russians. The suspicion is

Federal Union of Nations Gets Tiny Forward Impetus

By Joseph A. Dear
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The idea that United States hopes to emphasize and develop the non-military aspect of the NATO alliance, which Secretary of State Dulles now cautiously suggests, has been welcomed with enthusiasm by Clarence Streit.

Mr. Streit, the leading advocate of a federal union of nations comprising the Atlantic Community, interprets the Dulles suggestion as a tiny movement forward toward the ultimate goal.

For several years now Mr. Streit's Congressional supporters, and Senator Estes Kefauver is one of them, have offered a resolution authorizing the President to convene a convention at which the federation proposal could be explored. But the resolution has never got off the ground, and in fact, has lost support.

Streit has always regarded NATO as the embodiment of his idea, though in a very crude form. At any rate, it offered something to work with. And now, with Dulles hinting that NATO must be more than a mere military alliance, Mr. Streit's friends say he has at last been recalled from the wilderness.

This could be, although up to now it has been Streit's ironic fate to fade further into the wings with each succeeding demonstration of the essential truth of some of his arguments. This, for example, the fact of the hydrogen bomb makes nationalistic military strategy for smaller nations utterly unrealistic. The small nation state has been fixed. Strength through union should appeal.

If Secretary Dulles is serious, he will be able to assess the situation in Paris this week at the NATO conference. Dulles has been careful not to say just what it is he has in mind. But it has been alleged that he has an almost mystical belief in the principle of union — at least union of some NATO powers.

The imminence of the Italian elections, it is suggested, is one reason Dulles has not been explicit. From this it may be deduced that the Dulles plan excludes Italy and is restricted to a few nations with a community of interests. (It is to be doubted that Dulles will propose direct American participation in any "union now" scheme, though that is what Streit wants.)

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization already has an economic appendage. Each year experts examine the state of the economy of each of the 15 member nations. To a considerable extent, the military contribution of each member power is determined by its economic ability. At least that is the theory. So there is something to work on.

Any effort along these lines will pay off only if the people of the European nations involved are sold first. According to many analysts, an attempt to superimpose a grandiose solution from the top in this instance will fail.

That conclusion, incidentally, is based primarily on the disappointing show made by the European Coal and Steel Community. This was the outfit that was to harmonize relations between France and Germany, among other things. It has led to a certain degree of harmony between French and German industrialists but has otherwise had little impact, possibly because weary citizens of Europe regard it as fancy version of the old cartel concept.

Europe, though, does desperately need a new idea, an idea so grand that communism is no alternative. One reason Reds do have an appeal is because nothing else does. European politics, which were disillusioning in the 1930's, haven't changed. It is exasperation with conventional political ideas of proven inadequacy, and not an instinctive leaning toward Marx, that has turned so many European voters to the Reds.

The Dulles suggestion for NATO may be a sign that we are inching toward a truly dramatic idea that could save the West. After all, it was through federal union that United States found greatness.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

What do you see in other people? Do you see the good that is in them or do you imagine that they are crooks and criminals?

Do you believe that they are selfish to the point of not caring about other people, except as they may use others for their own benefit?

Are you suspicious of everyone? Some people believe others to be guilty until they are proved innocent. That is a pretty un-American idea. In this country we protect the innocent by law. Although this statute is a written law used in the courts, it should also be a moral law inscribed on the hearts of men and women.

A really friendly person looks about him and sees friends who are kindly and loving. If we expect people to love us, we shall likely receive a goodly measure of love.

What we see in people will probably come forth. There is good and bad in all of us. That which develops is what others expect of us. Someone once said that "A man is as he thinks." And a man thinks as he is motivated by himself and others. Let us give love and friendship and expect the same of others.

The mere fact of believing in children and in people will make the world a whole lot better. Let us not look for crooks all around us.

He and several other boys in the same class are planning to attend summer school at Boulder, Colo., and decided to take a course in German there, so they wouldn't have the same teacher this fall.

The other day, the instructor told the class that summer vacation would soon be here, and that he had three offers to teach at various colleges, one in the east, one in Utah and one in Colorado. He then said he had decided to teach at Boulder since several of his students were enrolled in the German course there, and he would feel at home!

Gore Says Oil-Gas Industry 'Put Its Best Foot Forward'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today "the oil and gas industry put its best foot forward" at the first public hearing held by a special Senate committee investigating lobbying and influence.

Referring to testimony yesterday by Maston Nixon of Corpus Christi, Tex., Gore told newsmen: "I do not say that his testimony was instigated for that purpose, but he seems to have received no discouragement in appearing before the committee from any source within the industry."

Nixon is chairman of the General Gas Committee, set up in 1954 to work for passage of a bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

In vetoing that bill, President Eisenhower said he was in accord with the basic objectives of the measure, but he denounced what he called "highly questionable" activities in its behalf by a small segment of the industry.

His veto message, plus the earlier disclosure that an oil company lobbyist had tried unsuccessfully to contribute $2,500 to the re-election campaign of Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the controversial measure, led to the current investigation.

Nixon—no relation to the vice president—testified the General Gas Committee, financed largely by oil and gas producing companies, gathered and distributed what he called "facts" about the gas bill, but did not engage in lobbying members of Congress.

He said the gas committee, which he described as "in hibernation," took in $118,625 from 249 contributors and spent $119,800 in the 18 months in which it was in operation.

He denied knowledge of any illegal or improper lobbying for or against the gas measure—or any other lobbying, for that matter. He said he didn't have any possible leads to give the Senate investigators.

Nixon, who is president of Southern Minerals Corp., testified he had made some "very small" contributions in Texas primary campaigns. Otherwise, he said, he never had made any political contributions to candidates for the Senate or the House.

Asked by Gore why he was before the committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), Nixon replied that he felt he should give an account of his stewardship of the General Gas Committee before leaving on a trip to Europe. He said he was "very proud" of the committee's work and didn't want it to seem that "I'd run out of the country."

He said he had asked to be heard after consulting half a dozen persons in the industry and found them all favorable to the idea. But he said it was his own decision.

"No one in the industry instigated my appearance," he told Gore.

Thieves Net 22 Cents

Gas Station Operator Gets Cotton Allotment

CUBA, Ala. (AP)—A service station operator whose cotton patch was widely publicized last year is ready to plant his 1956 crop. But this time Joe B. Killian has a federal allotment.

Killian's patch is beside his service station. He planted it last year to attract tourists.

Killian wrote Secretary of Agriculture Benson when agriculture agents ordered him to pay a $6 fine for planting the 17-row patch without a government permit.

He paid the fine and left the cotton in the patch for tourists to pick. Much of the cotton was still in the boll when the 1955 crop was plowed under this spring.

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—The freshman class at Woodbury High School will hold its class hayride as planned next Friday—but the students will ride on trucks instead of in wagons. Snow Is Worth Cash

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—It snowed pennies from heaven in Menominee County—a million of them. The unusual 4.2 inch fall in this Upper Peninsula area Sunday brought the day's total to 60.3 inches. That's just more than the 60-inch minimum required to qualify for $10,000 in state aid for snow removal next year.

17 Expected To Be Entered In the Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The names of 17 horses are expected to be dropped into the entry box tomorrow for the 82nd and richest Kentucky Derby.

Needles is still rated the horse to beat.

With only a dissenting vote here and there, the trainers here went right down the line today in the selection of the son of Ponder, the 1949 Derby winner, to take down the major share of the $125,000 added purses.

If all 17 parade to the post at Churchill Downs, the ace will gross $167,400 with the winner earning a net of $123,300. Both figures surpass the record 1955 totals when Swaps won $108,400 of the gross purse of $152,500.

Victory of Calumet Farm's Fabius yesterday in the mile of the Derby Trial and the unexpected strong showing of several horses behind him only tended to increase the size of the field.

Asked to name the horse to beat after Fabius stepped the mile in 1:36.6 and turned back the surprising stretch challenge of Countermarch with Head Man third, the trainers of the leading candidates still strung along with Needles. The Florida Derby and Flamingo Stakes winner, owned by Jack Dudley and Bonnie Heath is expected to go postward as the 2-1 choice.

Jimmy Jones (Fabius and Pinator Lea), Buddy Raines (Countermarch), Syd Veitch (Career Boy and Head Man) and Harry Trosek (Black Emperor) were among the trainers naming Needles as the horse to be headed in the testing mile and one quarter run. Only Colin (Sandy) MacLeod was of a different opinion. He said he would string along with Countermarch.

And from Hugh Fontaine, veteran trainer of Needles, came "I am afraid of them all."

A's Strategy Upsets Boston Red Sox 3 to 2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Athletics were basking today in the warm glow of a bit of strategy that paid off. The A's upset the Red Sox 3-2 at Boston yesterday on a squeeze bunt.

The St. Louis Cardinals, dropped into second place after a brief stay at the top of the National League, can confirm what the Brooklyn Dodgers already know—the Pittsburgh Pirates no longer are patsies.

Pittsburgh, which pinned a double header defeat on the defending champs and dropped them out of the lead Sunday, tripped the Redbirds last night at St. Louis, 4-2, on a two-run ninth inning double by Curt Roberts.

Joe DeMaestri of the A's laid down a bunt that caught Boston pitcher Dave Sisler and first baseman Mickey Vernon off guard, enabling Jim Finigan to slide home with the decisive run in the eighth inning.

Lou Kretlow went the distance, allowing 7-hits in his first victory for the A's.

The Cardinals had the lead twice last night but Vinegar Bend Mizell, taking his first defeat after two victories, couldn't finish off the Pirates in two-down situations.

Two were out in the ninth when Jack Shepard singled and Bobby Del Greco walked setting up Roberts' winning blow. Frank Thomas delivered a two-out single in the eighth with Pittsburgh trailing 2-1 and rookie Lee Walls scored him with a double.

Joey Brown Will Try For Knockout in Bout With Title Holder

HOUSTON (AP)—Joey Brown, a 3-2 underdog seeking a rematch for the title, says he will try for a knockout against world's lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith in their scheduled 10-round non-title match tonight.

A crowd of about 7,500 is expected for the Sam Houston Coliseum match that will be televised nationally (9 p. m. CST).

Brown, a 29-year-old New Orleans Negro who calls himself the man nobody wants to fight, says a knockout, particularly by the sixth round, should force Smith to accept a rematch for the title.

Larry Mines Hits Grand Slam Homer

Larry Mines, basketball and baseball star in Smith-Cotton high school athletics, when in school here, was in a baseball game with the Central Missouri State College team playing against the White-man Air Base Club Tuesday afternoon. In the fifth inning he poled a grand slam home run, helping his teammates win the game by a score of 10 to 3.

Mines is a freshman at the college and a graduate of Smith-Cotton in 1955. He is the regular catcher for the collegians and has been batting at about a .350 clip. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Mines, 1821 South Ohio.

Another Sedalian is on the CMSC team, Kenneth Buhlig, a starting pitcher, who gives promise of making good.

VMI Refuses Consideration Of AAU Meet

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—A ruling that declared William and Mary's track team ineligible for AAU competition has led officials at Virginia Military Institute to say they "want no part" of this year's state AAU track meet, for which the school had served as cohost the past three years.

VMI officials at first said late yesterday the school had "with-drawn" as a cohost with Washington and Lee University for the 1956 event. But state AAU officials termed this statement "pre-sumptuous." They said VMI hadn't even been asked to serve in that capacity again.

There was no comment immediately from W&L.

The William and Mary track team was ruled out of further AAU competition Monday because two of its members competed against miler Wes Santee—a professional in the eyes of the AAU—in a dual meet April 14 at Williamsburg.

VMI Athletic Director M. P. Echols said, "We want no part of their meet. We will neither help run it off nor participate in it."

State AAU president Marshall Rotella said it was going to be "difficult" to have a meet because of troubles in lining up a site and athletes.

Meanwhile, the Santee - AAU feud produced these other developments:

1. AAU Secretary and Treasurer Dan Ferris said in New York all other athletes in a May 12 meet at Madison, Wis., will risk ineligibility if Santee runs for the Quantic Marines against Michigan State and Wisconsin.

2. Southern Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade said of the William and Mary case the conference has "no rules prohibiting competition with service teams which may have professionals or former professionals on their roster."

3. Santee, who is a member of the National Honor Society, active in school and Methodist Youth Fellowship work, and is the pianist at the Leawood Methodist Church.

There were 13 high schools from Kansas and Missouri competing in the relays.

Marciano Retirement Puts Brooklyn Fighter Into 5th Place Rank

NEW YORK (AP)—Champion Rocky Marciano's retirement has pitched Brooklyn's Floyd Patterson directly into the wide open heavyweight scramble.

In his first monthly ratings since Marciano's abdication, editor Nat Fleischer of Ring magazine removed the 21-year-old Patterson from his perch atop the light heavyweight contenders' list, and made him the fifth ranking heavyweight.

The copyrighted ratings, released today, listed heavyweight champion Archie Moore as the No. 1 heavyweight followed by Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, Bob

Smith-Cotton Track Men Set New Records In Clinton Relays

Smith-Cotton track squad took second place in total points in the annual Clinton Relays held at Clinton Tuesday night. Springfield's Central took first with 93 points to the Tigers' 74 1/2 points. Twelve teams competed in the event.

Several new records were set for the meet with 'Van' Van Dyne and Norris Kelley taking the lead on some events.

Records set by Kelley and Van Dyne were: 120-yard high hurdles (Van Dyne) time :13.3; discus (Kelley) distance of 133 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

Landy May Start Slower, End Faster

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Miler John Landy of Australia figures if he runs slower at the start and faster at the finish he can lower his world record time of 3 minutes 58 seconds.

The second man in the world ever to crack the four-minute mile also believes some day, under perfect conditions, a runner may go the mile in 3 minutes 50 seconds.

When Landy set the record in 1954 at Turku, Finland, he ran the first half mile in 1:58.7 which he now considers too fast a start for a speedy finish.

The slender, 146-pound Aussie's plan is to run the first half mile in two minutes flat and then finish faster than before. He'll get a chance to try the method at the Coliseum on Saturday afternoon in a special mile.

He'll face such foes as Villanova's Ron Delany, Oregon's Jim Bailey and Bill Dellinger and the word half-mile record holder Lon Spurrier.

Landy says his showing Saturday in the nationally televised race will be largely dependent on how well he becomes acclimated between now and then.

Asked why he thought another night run 3:53 or 3:54 whereas he felt his own optimum time would be 3:56, Landy replied:

"I don't have the basic speed that some of the others have."

Landy has the three best times for the mile. In addition to his record of 3:58, he has twice this year run 3:58.6. Next among the best times in the world is the 3:58.

Actor Accuses Wife Of Fraud In Divorce

LOS ANGELES (U)—Actor Keefe Brasselle has accused his wife of obtaining a divorce last March 14 through fraud, and he wants her interlocutory decree set aside.

Brasselle, in a petition filed yesterday in Superior Court, charged that he returned from New York last January for what he thought would be reconciliation talks but instead was served divorce papers by his wife Norma, 29.

The actor, 32, signed a property settlement at that time "to clear the atmosphere" in a try for reconciliation, he said. He agreed then to pay $616 a month alimony and $150 a month for support of a son, Erin, 12.

Mrs. Brasselle denied his allegation of fraud.

Policeman Assigned To Downtown Beat Because of Trust

EL CENTRO, Calif. (U)—Policeman Milo Ploof was assigned to a downtown beat because Chief Wyatt Briggs said, "You have to have someone you can trust around those big stores."

Then Ray Roe, assistant chief, staked out in a department store where several thefts have occurred recently. Early yesterday, he said, a man let himself into the store with a passkey.

Roe arrested and booked on suspicion of burglary model policeman Milo Ploof.

Criticizes Marilyn As A Corporation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Is Marilyn Monroe sexy? As a girl, yes. As a corporation, no.

So says Barbara Nichols, latest addition to the siren ranks.

Now offhand you might think that Barbara Nichols' criticizing Monroe is akin to a rookie's telling Ted Williams how to bat. You could be right. But the qualifications for being a starlet include an ability to speak brazenly.

"I think Marilyn is making a mistake becoming a corporation," she said. "There's something unfeminine about a girl going into business. I think men resent it. It places the girl in a position of competing with them."

This probably won't cause Double-M to abandon Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc., but Barbara was serious about her opinion.

"I suppose stars have to incorporate themselves," she remarked. "That seems to be the only way they can save any of the money they make. But I think it destroys their glamor to go into business."

She vowed that she would never become Barbara Nichols, Inc.

"I'm not interested in money," she claimed. "I'm only interested in finding a husband."

She explained that she was all of 23 and still hasn't wed. Nor does she have any prospects.

I feel certain that this situation will soon be remedied. Barbara's assets are too noteworthy to be overlooked. As a matter of fact, Hollywood is now taking advantage of them in movies.

She was a reddish brunette when she attended high school in Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y. (where

Man Demands Service And Gets $25 Fine

BALTIMORE (U)—Patrolman Joseph Jones told Criminal Court he found Adam Zamenki, 39, creating a disturbance outside the accident ward of Johns Hopkins Hospital and warned him to leave quietly.

"You are nothing but a public servant and I want service," Zamenki was quoted as replying. "I gave it to him," said Jones. Zamenki was fined $25 for disorderly conduct.

she got good grades, so she's really neither dumb nor blonde.

Her career led her to the chorus line at New York's Latin Quarter to the Broadway revival of "Pal Joey." A bit on Sid Caesar's show brought her the role of a stripper in "Miracle in the Rain." Now she's playing a stripper in RKO's "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt."

But she claims she isn't being typed. Next she plays a gangster's moll in "The Best Things in Life Are Free," then portrays Doris Day's girl friend in "The Pajama Game."

What with Hollywood's preoccupation with curvaceous blondes, Barbara is liable to make the big time.

Governor Accuses US Of Trying to Duck Court Test on Taxes

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—Utah's Gov. J. Bracken Lee has accused the federal government of trying to duck a court test of the constitutionality of using income taxes to finance its foreign aid program.

He made the accusation yesterday after the Internal Revenue Service slapped liens on his property to collect the $1,203.10 it says he owes in income taxes. The liens didn't have to be procured in court.

The Republican governor says he is refusing to pay the tax in hopes of winning a court test of the government's right to spend tax money for foreign aid.

"As matters stand, a citizen seemingly has no means to test a constitutional question on government spending, despite the fact our government derives its powers from the people," he said.

He said the Internal Revenue Service "has been vested with more power than any government agency should have."

The governor indicated he may take the question to court himself, possibly by seeking a court order to set aside the liens.

Internal Revenue officials had no comment.

Pueblo School Board To Give Bar Tending Teacher New Contract

PUEBLO, Colo. (U)—Teacher Theodore Colton, 27, can return to his science classroom at Corwin Junior High School this fall if he wishes, but he'll have to mix his drinks at home.

Six trustees of School District 60 voted unanimously last night to offer Colton a 1956-57 teaching contract under a resolution which forbids employment in any phase of the liquor industry.

Colton, a science teacher here for three years, has tended bar nights for two years at a hotel cocktail lounge. Friends say he wanted to supplement his teaching salary, estimated at $4,300 a year.

The School Board came under heavy fire from teachers, students and parents after three of its members voted April 10 not to offer Colton a new contract. Members of the Pueblo Teachers Foundation began a resignation-a-day campaign in protest.

California Man And Wife Both Seek Offices

SAN MARINO, Calif. (U)—Politics is a family affair for the Sobieskis of San Marino.

John Sobieski is running for Congress; his wife, Marilyn, is running for the California Assembly.

As of now, they stand a fighting, though outside, chance to duplicate the 1954 coup of another Western political couple, the Neubergeres of Oregon. Richard Neuberger won a U.S. Senate post; his wife Maurine was elected state representative.

Like the Neubergeres, the Sobieskis are Democrats. What makes their task extra formidable is that they're running in a district where Republicans hold an estimated 5,000-vote registration edge.

Sobieski, 49, Los Angeles-born, Harvard-trained attorney, is making his second try to represent the 25th Congressional District. In 1954 he lost almost 2-1 to Rep. Pat Hillings, Richard Nixon's successor when the latter moved up to the Senate en route to the vice presidency.

It's the first run for Mrs. Sobieski, 48, who acts as her husband's legal secretary. She also faces a Republican incumbent, Assemblyman Montivel Burke of Alhambra.

The Sobieskis coordinate their campaigning to get the maximum political mileage. While one appears at a club meeting, the other usually is talking to another group nearby. Then they switch audiences.

Rome Stores Start Summer Siesta Hours

ROME (U)—Most Rome stores go on summer hours today to allow for the customary Italian hot-weather siesta.

It's not so good in winter. The noon interval then is only from 1:30 to 4.

'Scope Test May Reduce Baby Deaths

LOS ANGELES (U)—A microscope test which may help prevent the loss of babies through postmature birth was described here today by a Cleveland physician.

Postmaturity, in which the baby arrives late, is more common than generally supposed, Dr. Allan C. Barnes of Western Reserve University School of Medicine told the California Medical Assn.

He cited a series of cases indicating 22 out of every 1,000 births are postmature, and that 10 per cent of these result in stillbirths.

Postmature babies are fully developed but are malnourished because of deterioration of the placenta, the tissue which provides the vital connection between mother and baby.

The later the baby is in arriving the more malnourished he is likely to be because the placental deterioration is progressive. The infant becomes spotted. He loses his natural oily coat of a substance called vernix. He becomes wrinkled through loss of intestinal fluids.

Placental failure can affect even premature and full-term babies, Dr. Barnes said. It probably is responsible for about 15 per cent of all fetal deaths, he said.

Microscopic examinations of cells discarded into the birth canal can yield clues as to the condition of the placenta, Dr. Barnes said. It takes special training to recognize the significance of their appearance. In tests which were made on women in various stages of pregnancy it was about 75 per cent accurate, he reported.

These findings, along with other more common signs, can help the obstetrician to determine the critical time for delivery, he said.

First cotton shipment, consisting of eight bags (equal to about one bale), exported from the United States was in 1784.

Find New Way Of Televising Documents

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—CBS is convinced it has latched on to something new and exciting—a way of presenting filmed documentaries on television with all the suspense of fictional drama.

"We call it actuality drama," said Irving Gittlin, the network's director of public affairs. "The old documentary technique was simply to take something which actually happened and have it occur again for the benefit of your cameras."

"Our idea is to shoot it as it happens. More importantly, to set up a situation, completely realistic where your cameras lie in wait, waiting for the dramatic climax of an actual life situation."

Gittlin could get an argument as to whether this is basically a new technique but few people would debate the fact that it was tremendously effective in "Out of Darkness," the hour long study of mental health so well received it was repeated last weekend.

Here, the camera was hidden behind one-way glass in the wall of a psychiatrist's office at a mental hospital. Three times a week, for three months, the doctor met with "Doris L." and most of that time the camera was cranking behind the wall.

What it recorded was a moving, poignant battle in which the patient slowly fought the darkest fears of her tormented mind to find the courage to resume a simple human function—speaking. It took a great deal of skillful guidance and patience by the psychiatrist. Telling the story well also took a great deal of skill and

Motorist Who Drove Into Propeller Gets $200 Traffic Fine

DENVER (AP)—A 21-year-old motorist who drove through the whirling propeller of a parked airliner last March 11 was fined $200 in Traffic Court yesterday.

Bryce L. Bredehoff, a civilian clerk at Lowry Air Force Base, was convicted of reckless driving and destroying city and private property.

Police said he ran his car through a fence surrounding Stapleton Airfield and onto a runway where a giant Trans-World Airways plane was warming up. The propeller cut huge slices in the car but Bredehoff emerged with only head cuts.

He testified he had attended a party and remembered nothing of the incident.
